'PA' ADMITS HE IS REAL GOVERNOR

CAN'T IMPEACH "MA" WITHOUT EVIDENCE, HE SAYS

DECLARES IMPEACHMENT NEVER GOING TO HAPPEN

Former Governor Says Speaker of the House Satterwhite Wouldn't Hesitate to Do Anything to Advance
His Political Career.

New York.—The New York Times, in a dispatch from a staff correspondent at Austin, Texas, says that former Governor James E. Ferguson admitted that he, and not his wife, Governor Miriam A. Ferguson, is the real governor of Texas.

The newspaper also states he "tacitly admitted" to newspaper men during a two-hour interview that his wife had abdicated part of her executive functions to him and he justified her in doing so. He said she had told the voters during her election campaign last year that she lacked experience in statecraft and depended on him to help her.

Asking for an appointment with the governor, newspaper men, who had traveled two thousand miles for an interview, were told to come back at 2:30 o'clock one afternoon. At the appointed time they were ushered into the executive office, but found not Governor Miriam A. Ferguson, but her husband. He at once launched into a defense of the present administration.

"In the first primary last year," he said, "I ran second to the klan candidate." Then he corrected himself. "I mean my wife ran second," he said. "We haven't decided," he said, "whether we will run for governor again next year or not." He charged his enemies with conducting a "whispering campaign" behind his back and when the talk of impeaching "Ma" Ferguson was mentioned he leaned back in his chair and laughed.

"It's no surprise to me that Satterwhite (speaker of the house) said he would not hesitate to impeach the governor because she is a woman. He wouldn't hesitate to do anything to advance his political career, man or woman."

"As far as their charge that I am the real governor is concerned, let me show you how sincere they are. When they wouldn't let me run for governor last year because my impeachment had disqualified me to hold office, my wife suggested that she run."

"In her campaign she announced that she was running to vindicate her family honor, but that she did not lay any claim to statecraft and that she would call for advice of prominent men of the state, including her good husband."

"We went all through this 'petticoat government' thing at that time. This hombre (Speaker Satterwhite) is not saying anything new."

"Speaker Satterwhite, the leader of this fight, who is a big West Texan with more ambition than sense, came into this office and impudently threatened to call a special session of the house for impeachment purposes if my wife did not convene the legislature."

"I said, 'Old man, you can call it right now if you have got the nerve.' 'Naturally, my wife was there, and she had that much sense that she said: 'Mr. Satterwhite, do you mean to say you would bring impeachment proceedings against me without any evidence?'"

"He said he had been hearing things. 'Hearsay isn't enough,' my wife replied. 'You haven't any evidence because I have never done anything for which I could be impeached.'"

"You can take it from me, this impeachment is never going to happen, for despite all the venom they have, they can never bring in a verdict for impeachment without any charge."

French Ace Killed in Tryout

Paris.—Maurice Bizot, a member of Captain Guynemer's famous "Storks Escadrille" during the World War, was killed instantly when a speed plane which he was testing overturned during an attempted landing at 100 miles an hour. He planned to use the plane in the near future in an attempt to set a new world's speed record. Bizot was officially credited with destroying twelve enemy planes during the war.

To Chaperon Ship Load of Brides

Tokio.—Mr. Wile, the Japanese consul at Sao Paulo, will sail for Brazil next month as chaperon for a ship load of picture brides, destined for the bachelors in the Japanese colony in Brazil. Wile is now organizing a society to enlist brides for other Japanese in South America. The government is planning to assist 10,000 emigrants next year, 5,000 to Brazil, 3,000 to Argentina and 2,000 to Mexico.

TIDAL WAVE HITS SOUTHERN ITALY

PEOPLE FLEE TO HIGHLANDS—
DAMAGE HEAVY

MANY DIE AS FLOOD WATERS HIT PORTUGAL

Mediterranean Shipping Is Crippled and Liners Are Tied Up in Port
Along the French Atlantic Seaboard.

Naples.—A tidal wave sweeping during a terrific storm has devastated the town of Bagnara, in Calabria, near the strait of Messina. The nearby port of Monteleone di Calabria also suffered heavily. No estimate of casualties is available.

The population of both these towns fled in terror from their homes. Houses were torn from their foundations by a deluge caused by rain and incoming sea water. Waves of great height are reported. A few tugs are known to have been sunk.

Bagnara has a population of about 7,500 and Monteleone about 10,000.

The storm was general along the southwestern Italian coast and northern Sicily. Many parts of the country suffered heavy damage. The greatest force of the storm was felt in Sicily and the province of Calabria. Many persons are known to have been injured and scores of homes damaged. Communications were disrupted, railway tracks being washed out and telegraph and telephone lines broken.

Serious damage is reported from the Sicilian ports of Messina, Trapani, Catania and Milazzo.

Many parts of France are snow-bound. The coast of Brittany felt the full fury of the recent gales, with the loss of numerous fishing boats and men. Mediterranean shipping is crippled and liners are tied up in port along the French Atlantic seaboard.

In Spain, snow and cold have not even spared the sunny south, famous for its mild winter climate and tropic vegetation. Madrid is experiencing the coldest weather of the year. Several shipwrecks have occurred and lighthouses have been damaged, rendering conditions still more dangerous for shipping.

Great loss of life and enormous property losses are reported to have taken place in Portugal as a result of torrential rainfalls all over the country, according to a Central News dispatch from Lisbon.

A large area of the city of Lisbon is reported to be submerged and the loss of life there is reported to be heavy.

Several buildings there collapsed when the waters undermined their foundations.

SENATOR WHEELER, MONTANA, WILL FIGHT INDICTMENT

Washington.—Arguments on the indictment returned here against Senator Wheeler of Montana was begun before Justice Bailey in the District of Columbia supreme court.

Senator Wheeler's counsel, Senator Walsh of Montana, contended that the present charge of conspiracy against his client was based upon the same set of facts Senator Wheeler faced in his own state, where he was acquitted of a charge of improperly representing Gordon Campbell, Montana oil operator, before the Interior department.

It is the contention of Senator Wheeler that in view of his former acquittal, the federal government cannot legally proceed against him in the District of Columbia.

The government holds the cases are wholly unlike and are based upon different transactions and that consequently the indictment must stand.

Arsenic Found in Apples

Washington.—The department of agriculture has been informed by its attaché at London that fruit dealers there have been fined for selling American apples alleged to contain arsenic in harmful quantities. Fruit and marketing experts of the department said that the amount of arsenic reported to have been found was less than a third of a medicinal dose to each apple. No case of fatal or even serious illness from this cause has been reported in this country, but experts are continuing vigorously the efforts they have been making for some time to educate American growers in the proper handling of arsenical sprays.

Evolution Law Fight

Nashville.—The Tennessee Academy of Science has unanimously adopted a resolution asking the legislature at its next session to repeal the evolution law "because it marks a backward step in our educational progress."

The estimated cost of the completion of the building is $50,000.

CO. CONSOLIDATED ENDORSES FESTIVAL

Announcement was made at the San ta Clara County Consolidated meeting Tuesday in Palo Alto that a rose carnival will be held by this county in 1926. Alvin Long, chairman of the carnival committee in speaking of the carnival, remarked on the fitness of such an affair in a county where roses were so extensively cultivated. This county grows commercially more roses than any other section on the Pacific Coast and the slogan is "Make Santa Clara County the Rose Garden of the World." This valley is naturally one of the beautiful garden spots of this country. Roses will greatly add to its beauty and advertise the section more widely.

Today, Friday, is rose planting day and all communities are asked to plant roses in the home and public gardens and parks. Make the county so attractive to the visitors that its beauty will be a lasting remembrance and induce them to come again. The movement was endorsed by the Consolidated.

A former secretary of the Palo Alto Chamber declared that he believed that his section would still stick to the county, contrary to newspaper reports.

The body was urged to assist in the conservation of toyon and other shrubs and flowers of the county.

Special invitation was extended Consolidated members to attend Palo Alto's annual Christmas party this Friday evening.

C. H. Whitman said that the sanitary district committee was busy and the state health officials would submit its report to the county board.

President Wendell Thomas stated that a few boxed prunes were still available if communities wished more.

The next meeting will be held at Cupertino.

Campbell was represented by President Whitman and Secretary Farley of the Chamber of Commerce.

JUDGE TALKS SAFETY TO P. T. A.

The Campbell Grammar school P. T. A. met in regular session December 1, with the President, Mrs. Schuyler, in the chair. After singing the P. T. A. song a piano solo was given by Hugh Cramer.

Judge Sontheimer then gave a very instructive talk on "Safety Education." He said in part, "The matter of the education of children in safety lies with the parents, beginning at home. Safety involves foresight and self-control. Common sense and courtesy are the chief requisites in driving. Speeding is one of the major causes of accidents, and most accidents could be avoided. We should all know the rules of the road. Watch out for the man on foot, go at a reasonable speed, use signals, adjust brakes frequently, look out for locomotives and do not let children drive automobiles."

A vocal duet "For a Little Bit of Love" by Viva Nichols and Dorothy Clark was then enjoyed.

Announcements were made of the Federation meeting to be held in Saratoga, January 4, and the Sixth District meeting which will be held in Campbell, February 10.

Plans for the Carnival to be held December 17 were completed. The date for "Father's Night" was changed to Thursday, December 3, on account of the high school basketball game Friday, December 4.

The attendance prize was won by Miss Fablinger's class. After the business session all adjourned to the cafeteria where delicious pumpkin pie and coffee were served by the committee.

HI PLAYS SAN JOSE AT CAMPBELL TONIGHT

Campbell High School, Class A and Class B teams, will play San Jose High School Class A and Class B teams at Campbell gymnasium this evening, December 4.

The tieups are:

Class B—Monte, Gardner, Furtado, Kosick, Burns, Frea, Seiyama; centers, Robson, C. Nelson, Newton; Guards, Merrill, E. Nelson, Lynden, Angelo.

Class A—Forwards, Reed, Sundquist, Fricano, Clark; Centers, Nelson, Hedegard, Cramer; Guards, Kalas, Eddleman, Shelley and Cramer.

The Campbell A Class team has been going strong in its pre-season games and has chalked up several victories so far. Now it is in fine trim for the opening game of the P. A. L. with the San Jose High School and is doped to win. Let it be known that Campbell's unlimited team is out to win the P. A. L. title if it can possibly do it.

The Campbell Class B team is much stronger than last year's team and its first game of the P. A. L. with San Jose will undoubtedly show what strength it has since San Jose's Class B team is reputed to be a very fast team. At any rate, there will surely be some real basket ball when these two teams meet.

Come and root for the Campbell boys for it certainly helps.

The Santa Clara Valley Rose Carnival, will be held on May 20, 21, and 22, and Friday December 4 has been selected as a day for planting roses throughout the county by the schools and flower lovers. During the present week roses will be planted everywhere, in school yards, in home gardens, along the curbing between the street and the sidewalk, at service stations and in all available space in order that this "Valley of Heart's Delight", in which it is a privilege to live, may blossom like a rose garden during the Carnival in May.

It is urged by the committee in charge of arrangements for the Rose Carnival that the roses be planted on the afternoon of December 4th, by classes in botany, nature study, agriculture or civics. The number of roses suggested as the beginning of a rose garden was thirty. If schools cannot plant thirty let a rose garden of ten be begun.

The public is asked to plant other flowers in addition to roses. Among varieties suggested which will be effective for decorations for the rose carnival, are larkspur, marguerites, valerina, stock, calendula and sweet peas. Mr. A. C. Buhot, of Navlet's, has offered to give free sweet pea seeds to all the schools in Santa Clara County. Since they should be planted now he hopes that all schools who have not yet had their seeds will call for them soon.

The following program which was suggested by the committee for rose planting day will be sent to the county schools' by Professor Roy Thompson:

Song: "America the Beautiful."
Short talk: "Why Beautify Our School Grounds."

Instrumental selection—"To a Wild Rose."

Song—"Roses are Blooming in Picardy."

Talk on roses, their care, origin and history.

Song—"When You Look in the Heart of a Rose."

Short Talk—"Civic Pride."

Song—"Thank God for a Garden."

First, second and third prizes will be awarded to the city and county schools whose school yards show the finest bloom of roses during the Rose Carnival next May.

The Publicity Committee, Mr. A. C. Buhot, chairman, is to be composed of 200 people representing every community in the county.

Among the roses suggested for planting are: Red—General MacArthur, Gruss au Teplitz, Harley Hoosier Beauty, Hugh Dickson, Niles Cochet, Ulrich Brunner; Pink—George Arends, Madame Caroline Testout, Mrs. Charles Russel, Ophelia, Paul Neyron, Radiance; White—Frank Druschki, Kaserin Augvic; Yellow—Lady Hillingdon, Sunburst, Coral; Fancy—Irish Elegance, Los Angeles, Madame Edward Herriott.

The climbing varieties suggested are: Red—American Pillar, Paul's Scarlet Climber, Climbing Hoosier Beauty, Climbing Gruss au Teplitz, Climbing American Beauty; Pink—Climbing Cecille Brunner, Climbing Testout, Climbing Belle Siebrecht, Tausand-schon; White—Climbing Kaserin; Yellow—Revu d'Or.

The theatre managers in the county will cooperate with the rose planting committee by showing slides saying "Make Santa Clara County the Rose Garden of the World. Plant Roses December 4th." Short talks will be made in the various theatres in regard to the carnival and the planting of rose bushes.

The steel bridge over the north fork of the Stanislaus river, on the Dornington-South Grove Big Trees road, in Colusa county, has been completed and the road from Dornington to the river has been finished. The bridge has a span of 165 feet, is 12 feet in width and cost $13,000. The forest service paid $10,000 of this sum and the balance was supplied by Tuolumne and Calaveras counties.

Recreation Center, Santa Barbara, was issued a building permit for the erection of a $150,000 woman's hotel, adjoining the center at Carrillo and Anacapa streets. The structure will be four stories, of reinforced concrete, and is designed in harmony with Santa Barbara architecture. It will have seventy-five rooms, a majority of them for business and professional women of the city.

DON'T POSTPONE CHRISTMAS BUYING

Christmas Day itself is confined to the church service and the family circle, but the preparation for Christmas, spread through miles of city streets, over acres of floor space in thousands of shops and warehouses, absorb the concentrated effort of a multitude of workers and so cannot be crammed into the few days immediately preceding the festival itself. Christmas buying, and selling, and mailing and shipping—the business structure needed to house the Yuletide spirit—cannot be completed without the bricks of forethought and the mortar of general consideration for everybody concerned.

Indeed, the spirit of Christmas, in a few days, will be plainly manifest in the heart of those who throng the streets and crowd the stores and post-offices in anticipation of the joy and cheer their gifts and missives and remembrances will bring to those they love and cherish. Christmas shopping has become by no means a minor feature in the world's greatest celebration. It can be and should be an outlet for its finest expression.

But it will not be a worthy outlet for this expression unless it includes the same good will and consideration for the salespeople, the carriers, and all those connected with the tremendous business of Christmas shopping that it wishes to exhibit for the friends and relations and loved ones for whose benefit this mighty machinery is annually put in motion.

And to make the Christmas spirit all inclusive—as it should be—shoppers will not postpone the good work of Christmas buying till in the last few rush days becomes an intolerable burden and a heartbreaking ordeal to the willing servants of the public on whom may thus be thrust tasks as impossible as those the Egyptians imposed on the Children of Israel.

Last moment shopping is unfair to the storekeepers, who have amply provided weeks ahead of time the care and attention necessary to cover the demands of the Christmas trade, so only that it be equally distributed. They too, in return, have a right to expect co-operation from those who may profit by their foresight.

And to every reader of the PRESS we say unhesitatingly, that last-moment shopping, in addition, is an exceedingly stupid proceeding on the part of the thoughtless buyer and a poor compliment to the friend or loved one he thus so tardily remembers, after the cream of the gifts have been skimmed off by more hearty Christmas givers.

COMMUNITY SPIRIT

There is such a thing as Community Spirit. It is both an intangible element and a cashable quantity. Intangible, because it can not be measured, bartered and sold in commercial reckoning, but flows in never-ending stream until its source is stifled and destroyed; cashable, because of the results shown in bringing about the fulfillment of the community's ambitions to advance and prosper.

Mix a little co-operation with unselfishness, sweeten it with civic pride, throw in a dash of common sense, stir it with leadership, roll it in persistency, flavor it with optimism, bake it with enthusiasm, and the result is Community Spirit.

The city of New Albany, Indiana, had a suburban section erroneously dubbed "Nigger Hill". From a natural standpoint it was a beautiful spot, for it overlooked the river and was high ground. One day the citizens of New Albany got together. They went up to "Nigger Hill," cleaned it of rubbish and tin cans, grubbed out the weeds and underbrush, levelled its path, built a park and playground, and put up a sign in bold caption, "This is Locust Grove."

It was a magic transformation! Partly psychological, but particularly co-operative. What happened? Real estate values went up in the vicinity. The "best families" now wanted to build their homes and live in "Locust Grove,"—the spot they formerly had shunned as "undesirable!"

What did all this? Community Spirit is the answer. Community Spirit can make anything happen within the realm of community possibility. It is its own force. Once you get a fellow boosting—once get him inoculated with Community Spirit—you have transformed a passive or potential liability into an asset. Every normal man loves his home. Every patriotic citizen ought to love his community or get out of it. It is what he and his fellow townmen form as a composite entity in terms of love and service to the Community in which they live, that we call Community Spirit.

MAYBE HE COULDN'T TELL

The rate is three cents to all foreign countries and foreign colonies including Great Britain and Ireland and New Foundland, but not to the other countries on the American continents with which the letter rate is 2 cents an ounce.

C. M. I. L., and G. A. Smith father, brother and uncle respectively of H. C. Smith, arrived recently from Minnesota and are at their cottage at Twin Lakes. CHRISTMAS MAILING

Postmaster General New has issued a bulletin relative to Christmas mails giving the following dates for Christmas mailing, which are earlier than those advised before, as it proved to be impossible to deliver all the mail last year before Christmas Day. Please note that in all cases it says not later than, but even earlier is still better.

When to Mail Christmas Cards and Parcels.

Christmas gifts and cards addressed to points within one day's travel should be mailed not later than December 20; within two days' travel, not later than December 18; within three days' travel, not later than December 16; for more distant points, not later than December 14. Parcels and cards for local delivery should be mailed not later than December 22.

Parcels and envelopes may be indorsed "Please do not open until Christmas."

Christmas Cards.

The early mailing of Christmas cards is just as important as parcels. Millions of these cards, separate and in envelopes, are mailed each Christmas. Consequently, great congestion and delay occurs in large post offices, where they are all mailed within a day or two of Christmas. Therefore, if you want your Christmas greeting to reach your relatives and friends on or before Christmas Day, follow the instructions in the preceding paragraph relative to mailing early and be certain of delivery before Christmas.

Prepare to Celebrate

On February 22, 1926, Campbell will celebrate as usual Washington's birthday which is Old Settler's day in Campbell. The speaker committee this year has already been appointed. They are Theo. Cutting, D. H. Cramer, and Walter H. Stray.

This annual celebration of "Old Settlers' Day" has been observed by the people of Campbell without a break for thirty years, the first gathering being held in the old Y. M. C. A. building in 1895.

This being a community affair the local Chamber of Commerce will welcome any suggestions that may tend to make the day more representative of this Central part of the county.

Election Monday

The annual meeting of the Campbell Chamber of Commerce will be held at the Library Hall, Monday evening, December 14.

This will be an important meeting as officers will be elected for the coming year. We understand there will be a spirited contest for some of the offices, especially those of president, vice-president and secretary.

At this meeting arrangements will be made for the annual banquet which will be served in January. Reserve the date, Monday, December 14, 1925.

Mrs. Alice Smith, who celebrated her seventy-sixth birthday last Friday, was happily surprised when her grandsons, Hubert and Lloyd Smith, with their wives and children arrived bringing with them all the "fixins" for a fine birthday dinner, together with a number of nice gifts.

The Christian Endeavor society of the Congregational church held an outdoor sunrise meeting Thanksgiving Day, and a very pleasant Harvest Social Friday evening. Unique invitations in the form of Pilgrim Hats were used.

Harmon Bibb was up from Los Angeles on business last week. It is understood that a lull in general business lines is in process in the south and the idle class is increasing.

Sunnyholme Preventorium at 942 Park Avenue gives underweight, below par children a chance to attain good health and normal resistance. They can by the simple living, plenty of rest and good nourishing food, make the line on the weight chart denoting gain, look like a skyrocket. Since the Preventorium was established, six children from Campbell have had the opportu-

ity of preventorium care here. This was made possible largely through the response of the Community to the Christmas Seal Sale. More children in our midst need it, we are told by the visiting nurse, and can have their chance if you will Christmas Seal your December mail. Seals have been mailed to a selected list and will be sold by the school children.

PREPARE PARCELS WELL FOR MAILING

As the time for the general wide spread mailing of packages is drawing near, attention is again directed to the absolute necessity of proper preparation of parcels to be sent thru the mails.

This is true at all times as the great number of damaged articles and undeliverable packages, due to insufficient packing, flimsy containers and poorly written or incorrect addresses, will testify. In order to impress upon the users of the mail the great monetary losses resulting from these causes we are printing a few statistics from the Post Master's Advocate.

803,000 parcels went to the dead letter office last year.
21,000,000 letters did likewise.
$55,000 in cash is removed annually from misdirected envelopes.

$12,000 in postage stamps is found in the same way.

This is only part of the loss to the mailers which could be saved by care in addressing, the use of return addresses and strong containers and proper wrap-pings.

Every parcel must bear a return address including the name of the sender and both addresses should be enclosed in the parcel as well.

Dress up the contents of the packages as much as you please but the outside is for service.

A Reminder of a Coming Event

If twenty-five years ago someone had told the story of the Christmas Seal and what it had accomplished, no one would have believed that such a tiny agent as a penny seal would be responsible for the saving of so many lives, or making it possible for millions of people to learn that tuberculosis is curable and preventable. Years ago a young Dane, Einar Holboell, while working in the postoffice and seeing the letters and Christmas packages pass through his hands, remembered that it was Christmas for the sick the same as for the well, and through his idea, a stamp or seal was sold to help provide care for poor tuberculous children. Later, in 1907, it was introduced in America and $3,000 was raised. Since that time over $30,000,000 has been raised through the Seal sale.

Campbell district has gradually increased the amount raised from the sale of seals and has had proportionate benefit from the clinic and visiting nursing service, also preventorium care maintained by this sale.

This district is always hearty in its response to an appeal for children and looks well after its own. The money raised in the district this year will go toward the preventorium care for other children who need it.

Learns Facts About Wonder of the Sky

When distinguished scientists pondered over the problem of deciding the best scientific paper among the thousand or more delivered at the meeting of the American Association for the Advancement of Science just after Christmas, 1924, they decided to award half of the $1,000 prize to Dr. Edwin Hubble for his astronomical research work. Watson Davis, editor of Science Service, writes in Current History Magazine. Using the largest telescope in the world, the 100-inch reflector at the Carnegie institution's Mount Wilson observatory at Pasadena, Cal., Doctor Hubble has solved the mystery of the great heavenly objects that look like pinwheels in the sky, the spiral nebulae. A study of such photographs and the application of known astronomical laws led him to set forth the following facts about the Andromeda nebula:

It is so distant that it takes light nearly 1,000,000 years to travel from it to the earth. That is, it is some 6,000,000,000,000,000 miles away. It is the most distant object known to science. It is as large and has as much stuff in it as our own galaxy. Its total light is 1,000,000,000 times that of the sun. It contains some three or four thousand million stars. In shape and form it is not unlike the great stellar system or galaxy of which the Milky Way and most of the stars we see at night are a part and in which the sun and its revolving planets are but pin points.

Petrified Seaweed

A 500-pound lump of petrified seaweed discovered in the Medina sandstone of Pennsylvania is believed to be 60,000,000 years old. It was exhibited recently at the department of geology of the University of Pennsylvania by Dr. Frederick Ehrenfeld, says Popular Science Monthly.

The structure of the sea plants can be seen very clearly in this unique rock, which is but another piece of evidence that the ocean once covered this part of our country.

California spent $11,000,000 more for tobacco last year than was expended in maintaining the state's public school system, according to statistics received at the state department of public instruction. The compilation was made by Dr. John K. Norton, director of research of the National Education association at Washington, D. C., from government figures.

Officials of the American Legion have decided to go before Congress at the coming December session and request that Armistice day be given a place on the statute books as a national holiday, according to State Adjutant James K. Fisk of the California Department of the Legion.

Golden State News of Interest to All

Under a co-operative agreement with the Southern Pacific railroad, the state board of forestry, at Sacramento, has undertaken fire protection of approximately 200,000 acres of land, it was announced recently by State Forester M. B. Pratt. State fire wardens will operate during the season of fire hazard in each of the following five districts: Siskiyou county, 52,121 acres; eastern Shasta county, 39,722 acres; western Shasta county, 104,360 acres; Tehama county, 4,704 acres; Butte and Yuba counties, 10,900 acres.

California registrations of automotive vehicles thus far in 1925 total 1,399,728, according to compilations announced recently by Will H. Marsh, superintendent of the state motor vehicle department. The total includes 1,189,260 passenger automobiles; 168,627 pneumatic tired trucks; 41,841 solid tired trucks; 10,780 motor cycles and 24,880 trailers. Fees collected by the department for registrations amount to $7,593,809.30, of which $3,971,107.50 has come from passenger car licenses alone.

The Federated Missionary societies of Petaluma, Sonoma county, recently shipped a consignment of clothing to Mrs. Walter Leroux, chairman of the department of Indian welfare for the Sonoma County Federation of Women's Clubs. She distributed the clothing among the Indians in Alexander valley, near Healdsburg, at the reservation as a Thanksgiving offering.

Michael Welsh, aged prospector and well known figure in the mining camps of Shasta county for many years, died alone in his humble cabin at the age of 81 years. His body was found by a neighbor. Up until about a month ago Welsh had continued his long search for gold.

A bronze statue of Fra Junipero Serra, founder of the early California missions, was unveiled with appropriate ceremony and pageantry at the old San Fernando mission, Los Angeles county, recently.

A permanent organization has been completed by the Los Molinos Festival association at Los Molinos, Tehama county, and decision reached to make of the festival an annual event.

Miss Gladys Kenney of Petaluma, Sonoma county, who is filling an engagement with the Chicago Civic Opera company, has made her debut in Chicago as a ballet premier in the opera "Carmen" with unusual success. At the opening performance Miss Kenney was presented with bouquets of flowers from California.

Improvements amounting to $40,000 will be made to the plant of the Independent Sand and Gravel company at Forestville, Sonoma county. Plans are also being made for a branch receiving yard and sales office in Santa Rosa.

The hitching rails in the business section of Petaluma, Sonoma county, are gradually disappearing, but Chief M. Flohr of the police department, has warned auto owners that the remaining rails are for the horses. He has given his officers orders to arrest all owners of machines who persist in parking their cars at the hitching rails. Several have been cited to appear before the police judge because they have crowded out "Old Dobbin."

Funeral services were held in Sacramento for Charles W. McKillip, district manager of the Pacific Gas and Electric company, who dropped dead Friday night at the Sutter club, where he resided. McKillip was born in Sacramento sixty-five years ago and he entered the employ of the Pacific Gas and Electric company as a clerk when a young man. He had been manager of the company in Sacramento for twenty years.

Another of California's pioneer mining towns will soon be only a memory. This time it is Keswick, Shasta county, which has been abandoned and left to the salvage crews, according to word received in Sacramento. Twenty years ago Keswick, center of flourishing mineral activities, boasted a population of 2,221. Now the postoffice is said to be closed and only nine children of school age remain in the district.

When the time limit ended, November 21, at Stockton, San Joaquin county, 936 names were affixed to petitions asking for the formation of the Mokelumne river county water district, which will, if perfected, include the city of Lodi. Only six hundred names were necessary. Although the formation of the district means an extra tax of all Lodi property, 370 signatures were obtained in that city.

Contracts covering development work in the Feather River Power company's hydro-electric project east of Oroville, Butte county, and providing for expenditures totaling $7,791,898, have been filed with the Plumas county recorder and the enterprise is launched, according to word received in Sacramento. Electric energy is to be sold on contract to the Great Western Power company for distribution.

Large German Cities

The census of July 16 reveals 46 cities in Germany with a population of more than 100,000 each. Berlin and Hamburg are shown to have more than 1,000,000. The total population of the 46 cities, 29 of which are in Prussia, is 16,400,000, or a trifle more than 26 per cent of the population of the entire country.

Tsetse Fly Was Once Resident of Colorado

The tsetse fly, which in Africa carries the germ of sleeping sickness, deadly to men and cattle, has been found in Colorado. But there is no cause for alarm, for the flies have been dead and buried for 1,000,000 or 2,000,000 years and are known only by their fossil remains preserved in rock deposits near the foot of Pike's peak, Science Service says.

Strange to say, fossil-hunting expeditions under the direction of Prof. T. D. A. Cockerell of the University of Colorado have been unable to find evidence that house flies, stable flies or blue-bottle flies plagued the early mammals, including ancestors of the horse, that lived in Colorado in those ancient times.

But four species of tsetse flies have been found, although they are representatives of a genus no longer existing in the western hemisphere. It may be that tsetse flies spread disease in Colorado in Miocene times just as they now do in Africa.

"We may therefore be thankful that they have all perished in our country," Professor Cockerell remarks, "though why they found Colorado was not the place to live in no one knows."

"How could you expect her to, my dear? She hasn't the least shape."

American Engine Did Work

History was made for South Africa recently when for the first time one engine hauled the mail train all the way without change from Johannesburg to Capetown, roughly 1,000 miles. The engine is one of those recently imported from America, and accomplished what was formerly done by six changes. The engine's actual running time was 29 hours 13 minutes, or 100 minutes under the ordinary time. This feat of engine running is said to be a world's record for a 3-foot, 6-inch gauge. The train was made up of nine bogies from Johannesburg to Kimberley, and eleven bogies from Kimberley to Capetown. The result of this experiment is likely to lead to a great acceleration of the Rand-Capetown service.

May Solve Rivet Problem

Prediction is made by the American Society of Mechanical Engineers that the flame of the electric arc may replace the rivet and that the steel skeleton of the future building may be a single welded unit. It is said that this method would save the cost of drilling thousands of rivet holes; that the strength of an arc weld is equal to that of the parts welded, and that a welded joint is impervious to water, oil or gas. Finally, the expense of welding is said to be only three-quarters of that of riveting.—Popular Mechanics Magazine.

Nuts Instead of Beef?

There is in truth much to be said for making the nut as steady an article of diet as beef. But ours is a carnivorous race and the process of substituting even such a natural and delightful food as nuts for the age-old habit of flesh meat seems impossible of accomplishment. One good way to begin would be to make nuts available at such low prices that no thrifty housewife could afford not to buy them.—Washington Post.

The Way It Happens

He was a golf bug, went wild over musical comedies and was crazy about Italian food.

She was a bridge fan, adored high-brow plays and haunted tearooms and antique shops.

But she wore a hat that made her look like Marion Davies and he carried a cane with the cutest air—And so they were married.—Life.

Action Lacks Grace, But Has Good Reason

Swans and motor-cycle racers take the same ungraceful attitude in times of great effort and for the same reason. H. S. Rowell, director of research, Research Association of British Motor and Allied Manufacturers, has observed both and comes to the following conclusions, reported to Nature, a scientific periodical published in London: "When the swan is rushing to the attack of an adversary, the head is lowered and the neck is protended almost horizontally. I had always associated this posture with mere anger, but, during the excessive Thames flood of last December, when swans could often be seen striving against the stream, sometimes so far as could be judged, in the apathetic state of desperate exhaustion, the same pronation of the neck was frequently evident. The explanation seems to be dynamical, for the reactions on the feet of the bird would, without the counterpoising action of the neck, tend to rotate the body about a horizontal axis, head backwards. Air resistance also plays a part. It is of interest to note that the racing motorcyclist, in his unreasoned but experimentally justified preference for forward weight, has found a solution akin to that of the swan. Many sprinters, especially when starting, use the same principle."

Birds of the World Far Outnumber Humans

Statistics gathered by the Department of Agriculture indicate that total bird population of the world is approximately 75,000,000,000, or about forty times the number of human beings. Records showed that there are an average of approximately 224 birds for every hundred acres of land. On this basis, the bureau of biological survey estimated that in the northeastern and central states of America, there are 82,660,089 robins, 69,300,883 English sparrows, 50,514,499 song sparrows, 33,815,491 catbirds and 22,126,185 bluebirds. Nine species in all, made a total of 364,455,847, while the other kinds swelled this figure to 1,052,722,161, the estimated number for that part of the United States, or about a fifth of the whole bird population for this country.—Popular Mechanics Magazine.

Music and Criminality

You have often read, no doubt, that music has an uplifting influence on our lives, and that it indubitably helps to make this humdrum existence more beautiful and worth while. That's all well and good, and we believe it in a general way, but here's a new idea for you.

Music helps to keep one out of jail. "Statistics show" is an old and appalling expression, but here are some figures on that subject which will make you believe there is something to the statement after all.

There are about 150,000 professional musicians in the United States, and in the nine largest penitentiaries it is said there are only fifteen of these musicians.—New York Herald Tribune.
